

Society of Experimental Psychologists
101st Meeting at Cornell University, March 18-20, 2004

Thursday, 18 March 2004

- 5:00-6:30 Welcoming Reception, Guerlac and adjoining rooms,
A. D. White House (see Cornell University map for directions)

Dinner on your own (see maps and suggestions)

Friday, 19 March 2004

- 8:00-9:00 Continental breakfast, Conference foyer, Statler Hotel, adjacent to the Yale/Princeton room where the meeting is held
- 9:00-9:10 Welcome, Bidy Martin, Provost, Cornell University
- 9:10-9:25 1. James Cutting
Ithaca, Cornell, Titchener, and the Experimentalists
- 9:30-9:45 2. Larry Marks
The psychophysics of climate, redux
- 9:50-10:05 3. Ray Nickerson
It's clear to me; why can't you see it?
- 10:10-10:25 4. Carol Krumhansl
Cognition and tonality
- 10:30-11:00 Coffee break, coffee in the conference foyer
- 11:00-11:15 5. Jim Townsend, Leslie Blaha, Olaf Sporns, and George Chadderson
A simple dynamic Hebbian model of perceptual learning, and an application
- 11:20-11:35 6. Molly Potter
Forgetting pictures
- 11:40-11:55 7. Bob Sternberg
Effects of medical treatment for parasitic illnesses on cognitive functioning:
Results from Jamaica, Tanzania, and Zambia
- 12:00-1:30 Lunch on your own (see maps and suggestions)
- 1:30-1:45 8. Julian Hochberg
A new and robust way to put movies to work in analyzing perceptual inquiry

- 1:50-2:05 9. Roddy Roediger
Positive and negative consequences of taking multiple choice tests
- 2:10-2:25 10. Michael Kubovy
Prägnanz revisited
- 2:30-2:45 11. Carol Fowler
The motor theory of speech perception, revised again
- 2:50-3:30 Break, beverages and snacks in the conference foyer
- 3:30-3:45 12. Carolyn Rovee-Collier
Infants associate two physically absent cues whose representations are co-active in memory
- 3:50-4:05 13. Susanna Reynolds and Sam Glucksberg
Language specificity of discourse
- 4:10-4:25 14. Shep Siegel
Drug onset cues as conditioned stimuli
- 5:00-6:30 Reception, Psychology Department, 2nd floor, Uris Hall
With Titchener and SEP memorabilia (see Cornell map)
- Dinner on your own (see maps and suggestions)

Saturday, 20 March 2004

- 7:30-8:45 Continental breakfast, Conference foyer, adjacent to the Yale/Princeton Room, Statler Hotel
- 8:45-9:00 15. Morton Ann Gernsbacher
Why do persons with autism avoid eye contact?
- 9:05-9:20 16. Herb Terrace
Cognitive imitation in Rhesus macaques
- 9:25-9:40 17. Buz Hunt
The latest intelligence on intelligence
- 9:50-10:05 18. Peter Killeen
Reject the null hypothesis
- 10:10-10:40 Coffee break, coffee in the conference foyer
- 10:40-10:55 19. Dick Pew and Stephen Deutsch
Successive approximations to a model of human error
- 11:00-11:15 20. Marcia Johnson
Using fMRI to Identify Neural Correlates of Component Processes of Cognition

- 11:20-11:35 21. Jeremy Wolfe
Placing visual selective attention in a new, two-pathway architecture
- 11:40-11:55 22. Michael Turvey
Symmetry and coordination
- 12:00-12:15 Annual Picture, SEP Members
North steps of Uris Hall, Tower Road opposite side from the Statler (consult map)
- 12:15-2:00 Lunch on your own (see maps and suggestions)
- 2:00-2:15 23. Lloyd Kaufman
On the relationship between perceived and physical distance
- 2:20-2:35 24. Mike McCloskey
Visual shape and distance distortion: Perceptual consequence of cortical reorganization?
- 2:50-3:05 25. Karl Pribram
Representation of cortical responses to whisker stimulation in the rat
- 3:10-3:40 Break, beverages and snacks in the conference foyer
- 3:40-3:55 26. Ben Murdock,
The mirror effect and the spacing effect
- 4:00-4:15 27. Keith Rayner
Reading disappearing text
- 4:20-4:35 Guest speaker
28. Dave Baker, The Archives of the History of American Psychology
The University of Akron
The Warren Medal: Psychology's First Award
- 4:40-5:30 Business meeting – Michael Kubovy
- 6:30-7:30 Reception, Rowe Room, Banfi's, Statler Hotel
- 7:30-9:00 SEP 2004 Banquet and Award Ceremony,
Taylor A and B, Banfi's, Statler Hotel

SEP Members also attending:

Patrick Cavanagh, Harvard University
Stephen Goldinger, Arizona State University
Duncan Luce, University of California, Irvine
Bob Krauss, Columbia University
Dick Neisser, Cornell University
Irv Pollack, University of Michigan
Rich Shiffrin, Indiana University